

MUST HAVES | ART GAMES

PAUL SINKLER

If life's a game—so is art! The Renaissance Art Game and its spinoffs, The Impressionist Art Game and Van Gogh & Friends Art Game, were inspired by one family's Volkswagen van road trips to Europe's great museums. The games' art cards (great for Go Fish) and companion books offer informative tidbits, including why Michelangelo painted the devil to look like a high Vatican official and what it was like to be a female artist in the 1800s. Play and learn—has multitasking ever been this fun? $19.57–$27.95. Sold at Red Balloon Bookshop and Wild Rumpus. —Abbey Klaassen
